PREFACE.

Holbrook's Newark City and Business Directory is again presented to its patrons and will be found full and complete as it has ever been. The great growth of the city has caused a corresponding growth in the book.

In 1867 the increase in the names made it necessary to change the book from a 12 mo. to an octavo form, and it has increased in size every succeeding year, until it contained last year nearly three times as many pages as it did when the above mentioned change took place, in fact, it had become unwieldy, and it has therefore been deemed expedient to make another change quite as radical, and one that will be welcomed by those having occasion to utilize the directory as a reference volume.

By a slight reduction in the size of the type, and placing two columns of names upon each page, a great gain of space has been attained, and the usefulness of the work materially increased.

Another new feature, and one that no doubt will be appreciated, may be noticed in the cover; a good quality of cloth having been substituted for the paper sides of the past. The bulkiness of the book and its continued use has obliterated the advertisements and made it unsightly. The new cover will obviate this.

Every precaution has been taken to preserve the time-honored reputation of this work for reliability. Canvassers of experience were engaged and their work was subjected to careful scrutiny and revision. The increase of population in the Italian quarters rendered it difficult in the extreme to secure accurate information concerning them, but the employment of a canvasser of that nationality, accompanied by another experienced man, both of whom worked faithfully and many times were obliged to assume considerable risk of personal violence, makes us confident that they all were found.

Another important feature introduced this year is a complete Business Directory of the entire County of Essex. Our patrons are thus furnished with information without additional cost, that parties out of the city are endeavoring to sell at a high price. When solicited to purchase or advertise in an Essex County Business Directory caution should be exercised to avoid paying for what you already have.

A new departure is also made with reference to Harrison and Kearny. These places, including Arlington, have been canvassed with care and placed in a separate department of the book under their respective titles. Hitherto these names have been classified alphabetically with the Newark names. It is thought that this will be a better arrangement, and will serve to give prominence and individuality to each place.

A BUREAU OF INFORMATION has long been established at the Directory office, where A DIRECTORY REGISTER FOR NEW ARRIVALS, AND CHANGES IN BUSINESS AND RESIDENCES MADE THROUGHOUT THE YEAR, is kept for public reference. All are invited to send such changes and arrivals to this office, where information is gladly imparted.

A LARGE COLLECTION OF DIRECTORIES OF PRINCIPAL CITIES is kept for public reference.

ALBERT MARSH HOLBROOK.

It is generally believed that the death of a good citizen is a loss to the entire community in which he lived, and if that is true, Newark may well mourn over the death of the subject of this obituary, for a better man or citizen it would be difficult to find.

Albert Marsh Holbrook was born in Park street, this city, in the house in which he died, on April 27, 1824. His father was the Rev. Amos Holbrook, a graduate of Dartmouth College, who, being his father, left the pulpit and taught music and the languages. A brother, Andrew Law Holbrook, was a law student under F. T. Frelinghuysen. On his mother's side he was of Revolutionary stock, the grandmother being a daughter of Dr. Simpson, of Sudbury, Mass., and the great-grandmother was the wife of the great-grandfather of James A. Garfield.

In early youth Albert went to Boston and entered the dry goods house of his cousin, Charles Holbrook. In 1844 he returned to Newark, and went into the employ of Garthwaite & Barry, where he remained until the Holbrooks broke out, in 1861, when he accepted the position of inspector in the Quartermasters' Department in the city of New York. He held this position and discharged his duties faithfully until the end of the War. He subsequently became the publisher of the Newark City Directory, and it was under his auspices that the work assumed its present size and importance. In Mr. Holbrook's time the Directory was a little volume of 102 pages, but the growth of the city may be seen now in an 8vo volume of 1634 pages.

Mr. Holbrook possessed peculiar qualifications for that business. He united the virtues of politician, economist, order and industry. There is no chance for genius or brilliancy in a directory. All the people ask for in accuracy and neatness in a substantial form, and to obtain these was the publisher's highest ambition. But the labor of getting out a work of this kind is very great, and he was the conspicuous one of those who labored with it, and certain it is that his unrewarded labor and conscientious work were never properly rewarded.

Mr. Holbrook was a plain, practical man. The growth and prosperity of Newark were very dear to his heart, and he took an opportunity of assisting in both. He was the leading spirit in organizing the Newark Industrial Exhibition, in 1872, one of the first and it was one of the finest of a kind in this country. This exhibition was begun and carried to completion, including the erection of the buildings, without money. The first money received was that taken at the door for admission free. There were subscribers, one of wealthy people behind the enterprise, but nothing was paid up. The exhibition, when was the occasion of the day, not only to this city, but for miles around, and the visitors from a distance were quite numerous and enthusiastic. It was Mr. Holbrook's highest wish that the exhibition should be a permanent one, thus keeping the industries of Newark always before the eyes of the country. But public interest died out finally, the exhibition continuing only during the successive years from 1872 to 1874. The importance of the enterprise and Mr. Holbrook's talent for organizing may be seen in the number of prominent men who were associated with it. The officers were David M. Meeker, President; Thomas Jones and Charles Lockwood, first and second Vice Presidents; Isaac Washburn, Treasurer. Among the Directors were such names as George A. Haley, Marcus L. Ward, Thomas R. Peddie, Henry J. Yates, Martin D. Isaacs and John D. Harrison. Mr. Holbrook was satisfied with the modest and honorable, but difficult, position of secretary. He kept the charter alive by calling annual meetings.

Mr. Holbrook's uprightness of character and great will power brought him into public notice, but he could not rarely be induced to accept any public position. For seven years he was in the militia, and sixteen years in the fire department, being during that time a Fire Warden. He was foremost in introducing the steam fire engine and a paid department. Many city improvements were due to his quiet work and influence. He was one of the originators of the Board of Trade, and continued a member of it to his death. He took up and carried through the erection of a statue of Newark's great inventor, Seth Boyden, a work which had long been negotiated, and he was secretary, at his death, of an association for the erection of a statue of the late Secretary Frelinghuysen. He was a member of the Harmonic Society, and commander of the American Legion of Honor. As a member of various committees he discharged his duties faithfully. As a Christian, he joined Grace Church, but he was liberal in his religious views, and far more inclined to find good in all faiths than to maintain his own dogmatically. He fairly took all men to his heart without regard to their religious or political opinions. No one ever asked a favor of him that he did not grant if it was in his power to do so. He especially delighted in helping people to help themselves, in giving honest and friendly advice, and many a man now blesses the day he dropped in and had a friendly chat with him.

There was something so upright and sincere, so friendly and so genial, that he won friends everywhere, and it led others to wonder whether he had an enemy anywhere. His house was as open as his heart. His family was always ready that the good man never dies, but lives forever in the hearts of those he loved and in the world he has made better by living in it.

Mr. Holbrook leaves a wife, who was Miss M. F. D. Carpenter, of Staten Island, and seven children, Mr. W. F. Dr. W. Stephen, Albert Baldwin, Misses A. F. and M. F. D. Holbrook, Mrs. Joseph Johnson, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Cyrus Leonard Chapman, of Irvington, and three grand-children. They all promise to walk in his footsteps and to become honored and useful members of society.

The funeral took place at Grace Church, the Rev. George Martin, Christian officiating. The pall bearers were A. Q. Amesbury, Theodore Runyon, John M. Swinwell, and John Snyder, of Orange. The interment was at Woodland Cemetery.

The Streets of Newark.

The streets of Newark, as generally laid out, run a northeasterly and southwesterly, and a northwesterly and southeasterly course. With rare exceptions do they run true to the compass. A portion of Broad street, from Central av. to State st., runs directly north and south. Park pl., also New Jersey Railroad av., directly north east and southwest. Springfield av. about east and west. Bloomfield av. about a north course.

The streets are numbered generally from northerly to southerly, and from No. 1 consecutively. Those streets running from a main thoroughfare, either easterly or westerly, are numbered from the main street as their source of beginning.

The streets are of about uniform width—excepting Broad st. and Clinton av. Broad st., from curb to curb, 92 feet; total width, 132 feet. Clinton av. same width as Broad st. Market, 59 feet; total, 99 feet. Mulberry 39 feet, 7 inches; total 66 feet. Washington, 39 feet, 7 inches; total 66 feet.

Localities Round About Newark.

Like as in other cities, custom has divided Newark into localities, and while the city authorities recognize but one name—Newark—to all territory within its boundaries, citizens not only make use of old names, but introduce names that are new, especially so in those sections remote from the central portion of the city. Also, streets and avenues whose names have been changed are still known by their original names, viz.:

North Newark, or Woodside. See Woodside.

Woodside, that portion lying in the extreme northern part, northerly of Mt. Pleasant Cemetery. in the Eighth ward, $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles in extent from the Cemetery and $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles distance from centre of city; formerly a township, by act of the Legislature annexed to the City of Newark. On line Broad street and Belleville horse cars.

West Newark, that portion lying in the westerly part of the city west of Belmont avenue, between Warren street and Clinton line, in the Eleventh, Sixth and Thirteenth wards, $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles distant from centre of city, on line of Irvington, via Springfield avenue, and South Orange horse cars.

The Foye Letter File, Cabinet <sup>and</sup> Index Co.

Having made great improvements in our Cabinets, as well as in our Files, they are now considered the most Complete Cabinet in the market, possessing the great advantages contained in our File, which is acknowledged to be the simplest and most complete File ever offered to the public.

We make Cabinets of all sizes and of any style of wood that may be required.

POINTS: READ AND OBSERVE:

THE FOYE LETTER FILE is acknowledged to be the most complete File in use, possessing important features not contained in any other File in the market. You can move the Foye Letter or Bill File with the arm as readily as with the tail, thus giving it perfect freedom of both hands to turn over more rapidly the papers contained therein, or remove the one you want without displacing the others.

THE FOYE FILE has a Strong Clip and Automatic Spring, which gives firm pressure, holding all papers, large or small, in place, without stopping to adjust the springs as in other Files.

THE FOYE FILE is made of Black Walnut and has a strong cover, thus protecting its contents from dust, and giving it the privacy of your ledger when exposed on your desk.

TRANSFER CASES.

Our Improved Patent Transfer or Filing Cases are without exception the best ever offered for the filing away of papers permanently. They are made of wood, covered with marble paper, finished like a book on the back, have two Springs attached to the lid, that holds the papers in their places, so that they cannot become disarranged. The lid is securely fastened on three sides, so that no dust can get into the papers.

Policies Absolutely Non-Forfeitable After Second Year.

IN CASE OF LAPSE the Policy is CONTINUED IN FORCE as long as its value will pay for, or, if preferred, a Paid-up Policy for its full value is issued in exchange.

After the second year, Policies are INCONTESTABLE, except against intentional fraud; and all restrictions as to residence, trade or occupation are removed CASH LOANS are made to the extent of 50 per cent of the reserve value, where valid assignments of the Policies can be made as collateral-security.

Losses paid immediately upon completion and approval of proofs.
